Dear Sir:-

The circular of the Society of the Cincinnati in the State of New York received with your notice of meeting, suggests that among the Gentlemen signing the circular there might be one who could tell me where I could purchase a specimen of the Society insignia.

I have a collection of military and civil medals and decorations, consisting of some two hundred fifty specimens from many Countries, to which I should like to add such a specimen if there is one available at reasonable cost.

Any attention that you would be kind enough to give the matter would be highly appreciated, and I am
dear sir

Very truly yours,

My dear Mr. Drowne:-

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 21st inst., and return my thanks for your prompt and courteous attention to my inquiry.

Who is it

It is pleasant to learn that there is someone else in this country interested in Military and Civil Decorations besides myself. At Spink's in London, I heard of an Army Officer in Washington, whose name I was not able to learn, who was said to be a collector, but until I received your letter, I had no positive knowledge of anyone else in this country interested in the subject.

It will give me pleasure to visit the museum of the American Numismatic Society and examine the collection there when I have an opportunity to do so. I note your suggestion that some of your co-members may wish to call upon me for information regarding objects in my little collection, and hasten to say that it will give me great pleasure to answer, so far as I am able, any questions on the subject that may be addressed to me.

I am sending you by this mail, under separate cover, a list of my decorations, but it is by no means complete as I have acquired a number since this was printed. Some of them are quite interesting, as, for example -- The Battle of the Nile, Trafalgar, the Garter (Honi soit qui mal y pense). The "Star" got away from me.

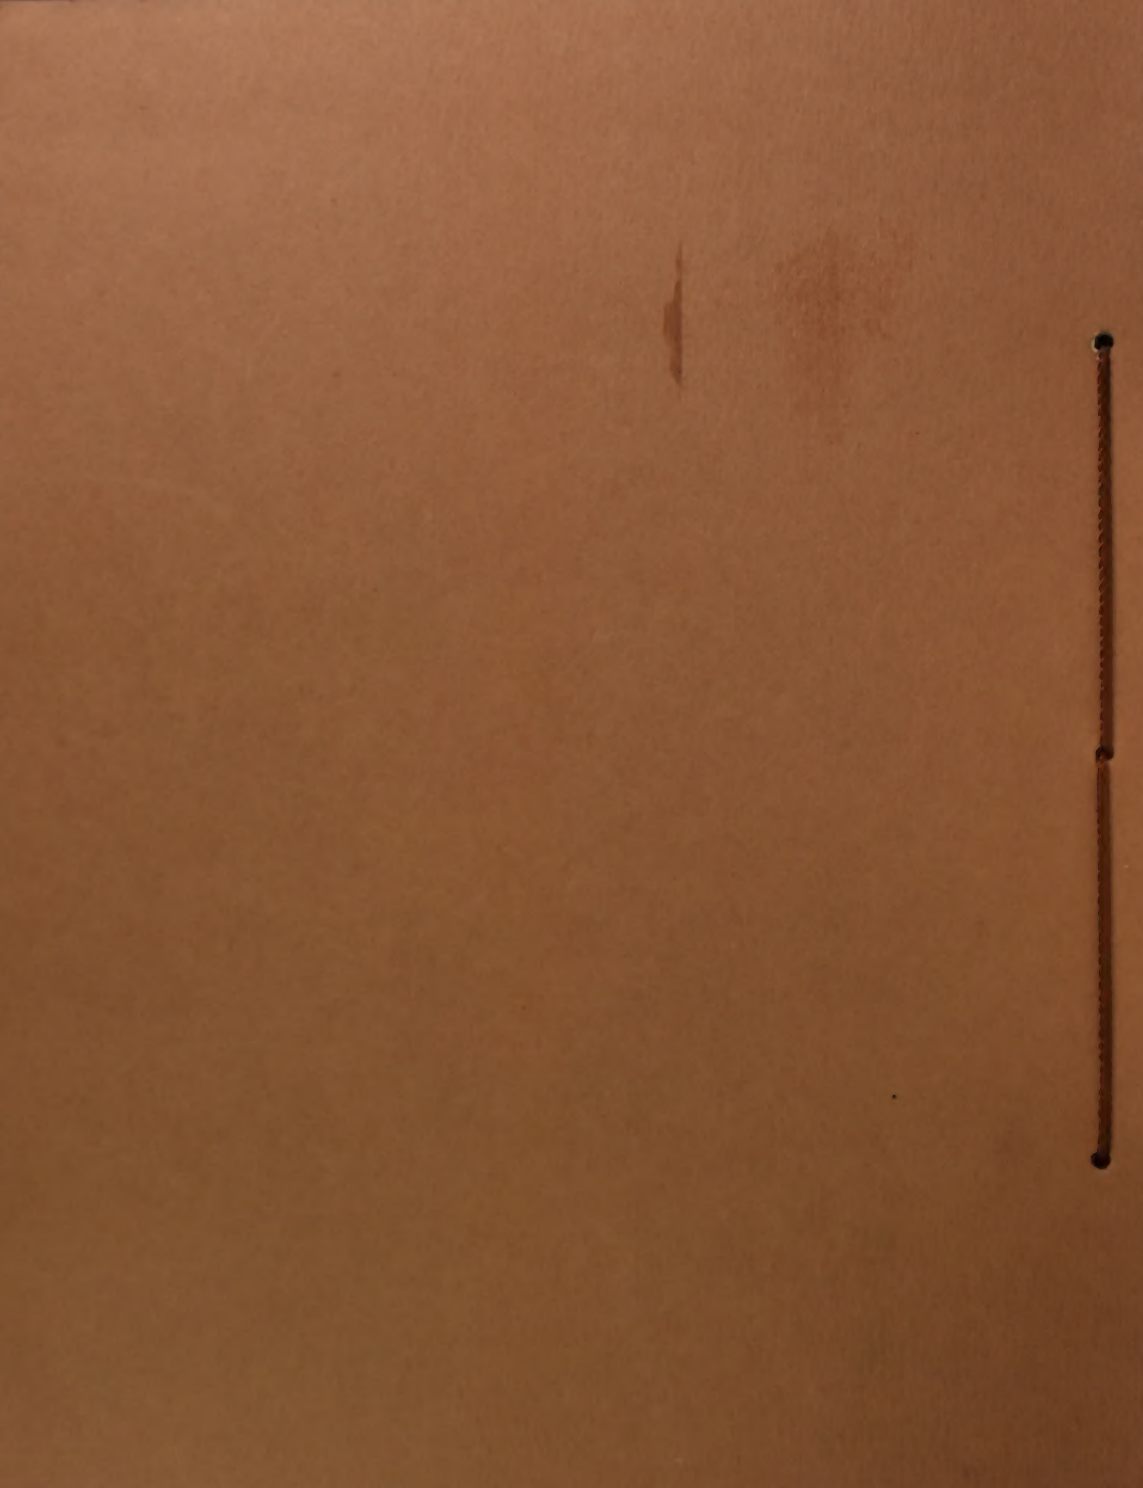

I have a few books on the subject, also a number of colored photographs taken on Lumiere plates arranged for lantern slides. They are by no means perfect, amateur work, but I made them with the idea that they might be useful to illustrate a talk on the subject. They, and any other material or information in my possession are quite at your service, and thanks again for your courteous letter, I am

Very truly yours,

Joseph Warren Cutler

Dear Sir:-

Mr. Henry R. Browne handed me your letter of January 24th and the interesting catalogue of your collection of War Medals and Decorations.

I notice that your collection contains many interesting specimens, but our own country has a very small representation, consisting of the insignia of a number of the hereditary societies only, the war medals issued by the government being conspicuous by their absence.

Some years ago I wrote a short history of the U. S. War Medals, and, thinking that it may possibly contain some information that you do not already have, I am sending you a copy under separate cover, which please accept with my compliments.

I trust that you will pay the Society a visit when in New York. Our collections of decorations and war medals are very extensive and will, no doubt, interest you. It would give me great pleasure to meet you there, if you would let me know a day ahead. I enclose a card giving my office and home address.

Very truly yours,

B. L. B.
